

Sculptor and clay:

One person is the sculptor the other person is clay. The sculptor sculpts the clay into a shape (a tree, a statue, a chicken etc.). At some point they shift. This would be good to apply this to tableaux. Have a group of people come up with a tableau and sculpt the other group into the tableau, then they switch. The tableaux could be related to the content of the workshop. (create a tableau of some accepting drugs, now someone refusing... healthy activities and unhealthy ones etc.)
